

When checking the number of pictures children have colored, encourage them to go back and re-count the pictures aloud. Children might find it helpful to point to each picture as they count it.