

Information from posters

Read this poster. Decide whether or not it will persuade people to take an interest.

Now write a short paragraph saying what you think is effective or ineffective about this poster.

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

Newspaper report

Imagine you are a reporter working for the local paper. You have been asked to write a brief report about what happened at the meeting advertised on the poster. You have limited space for your report, and the editor has already decided on the headline (see below).

You must include:

- when and where the meeting took place
- the name of the chairperson and the number of people attending
- a summary of the views and feelings expressed
- any possible outcomes (what might happen next)

A Public Problem

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

Information from posters

Read this poster. Decide whether or not it will persuade people to take an interest.

Now write a short paragraph saying what you think is effective or ineffective about this poster.

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

